

The Sinclair broadcast of the Anti-Kerry propaganda is yet another example of the dangers of over-consolidation of the media. Afterall don't the airwaves belong to "the people" and not private corporations with obvious political interests and intentions.